Executive Summary

Royalway Media Ltd is pleased to submit this End of Activity Report for the Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) Training Program Events conducted for Board and EXCO members of Tier 4 financial institutions and media representatives across Uganda from March to May 2025. The program successfully executed 18 regional training events in Kampala, Mbarara, Fort Portal, Hoima, Masaka, Jinja, Gulu, and Arua.

Commissioned by aBi Finance Ltd, these events aimed to enhance the capacity of Tier 4 financial institutions to integrate ESG principles into their operations and governance structures, while fostering media engagement to amplify the initiative's impact.

Through meticulous planning, seamless coordination, and a commitment to excellence, Royalway Media Ltd delivered on all contractual obligations, creating impactful, well-organized events that equipped participants with practical ESG knowledge.

This report details the activities accomplished, key outcomes, participant feedback, and lessons learned, showcasing the success of this transformative initiative.

1.0 Introduction

The Agricultural Business Initiative (aBi) was jointly founded by the Governments of Denmark & Uganda in 2010 as a social enterprise that channels development cooperation funding to agribusinesses & agricultural service providers. aBi aims at building a competitive, profitable & sustainable agriculture and agribusiness sector in support of equitable wealth creation in Uganda. The aBi consists of two companies limited by guarantee: aBi Finance Ltd and aBi Development Ltd.

In 2021, aBi Finance transitioned from a company limited by guarantee to a company limited by shares in a bid to commercialize its operations and attract new investments. It provides funding to financial institutions & agribusinesses with a focus on SMEs & smallholder farmers through Lines of Credit, Clean Technology Fund, Agricultural Loan Guarantees & Financial Services Development. Our Development Partners include Royal Danish Embassy (RDE), International Fund for Developing Countries (IFU) and European Union (EU).

aBi Finance supported the development and launch of the ESG framework for regulated financial institutions. aBi Finance further supported the training of EXCO members of financial institutions under the UBA umbrella (Tier1-3). However, Tier 4 institutions have expressed a need for technical assistance in ESG training to enhance their internal capacity to integrate ESG principles into their operations and governance structures.

To address the above, The Agricultural Business Initiative (aBi) Finance Ltd contracted Royalway Media Ltd to organize and manage 18 ESG training events from March to May 2025, targeting Board and EXCO members of Tier 4 financial institutions (12 events) and media representatives (6 events). The program's design focused on building internal capacity for ESG integration and promoting awareness through robust media coverage.

This report outlines the activities undertaken, celebrates milestones, and reflects on lessons for future engagements.

The trainings were held at centralised locations of the respective region namely, Central, Northern, Western, and Eastern regions. The proposed locations are Kampala (4), Mbarara (4), Fort Portal (2), Hoima (1) Masaka (2), Jinja (2), Gulu (2), and Arua (1).

1.2 Key Objective

4.0 Highlights and Impact

The ESG training events were a resounding success, fostering knowledge transfer and inspiring action among participants. Key highlights include:

- Participant Engagement: Board and EXCO members from Tier 4 institutions gained practical insights into integrating ESG principles, with many expressing intent to implement policies in their organizations. The post-training media demonstrated a significant positive shift in participants' understanding and perception of ESG, indicating the training program's effectiveness:
  - Enhanced Understanding: Participants exhibited a much clearer and more comprehensive understanding of complex ESG issues. Responses indicated a deeper grasp of the interconnectedness of E, S, and G factors.
  - Increased Confidence: A notable increase in confidence was observed regarding participants' ability to discuss ESG issues, integrate them into business strategy, and provide oversight on ESG matters. This suggests the training empowered them with the necessary knowledge and tools.
  - Strategic Importance: A stronger recognition emerged regarding the strategic imperative of ESG, moving beyond mere compliance to seeing it as a driver of long-term value, innovation, and competitive advantage.
- Specific ESG Dimensions:
  - Environmental: Improved understanding of climate-related risks and opportunities, the circular economy, and the significance of environmental management systems.
  - Social: Greater appreciation for human rights due diligence, robust labor practices, and the strategic advantages of fostering a diverse, equitable, and inclusive workforce.
  - Governance: Enhanced clarity on the Board's specific roles and responsibilities in ESG oversight, the importance of ethical conduct, and effective stakeholder engagement.
- Application & Integration: Participants expressed a greater willingness and perceived ability to integrate ESG factors into various corporate functions, including risk management, capital allocation, and reporting.

Media interviews and news outputs reveal a compelling narrative of successful knowledge transfer and behavioral shift:

Feature/Area	Pre-Training Status	Post-Training Status	Observed Impact / Shift
Overall ESG Understanding	Basic, fragmented, and often theoretical.	Comprehensive, integrated, and practical.	Significant Improvement: Participants moved from awareness to deep understanding, capable of articulating complex relationships between ESG factors.
Confidence in Discussion	Moderate, hesitant on specific topics.	High, comfortable discussing and debating complex ESG issues.	Substantial Increase: Training empowered leaders to engage confidently in ESG conversations, critical for effective board deliberation and external communication.
Strategic Importance	Understood as important for reputation/risk; less for value.	Recognized as core to long-term value creation, competitive advantage, and innovation.	Paradigm Shift: ESG moved from a compliance/risk mitigation item to a strategic imperative, demonstrating a deeper appreciation for its business benefits beyond mere compliance.
Environmental Knowledge	Basic on climate change; limited on circular economy, biodiversity.	Enhanced understanding of climate resilience, circularity, and broader ecological impacts.	Marked Improvement: Deeper appreciation of the scope of environmental challenges and strategic responses beyond carbon emissions.
Social Knowledge	Awareness of human rights; nascent DEI understanding.	Stronger grasp of human rights due diligence, robust labor practices, and strategic DEI frameworks.	Clear Advancement: From general awareness to a more structured and actionable understanding of social responsibilities and opportunities.
Governance Knowledge	General board roles; limited on specific ESG oversight.	Clear understanding of board's specific ESG oversight, ethical leadership, and stakeholder engagement.	Profound Enhancement: Provided clarity on the specific governance mechanisms and leadership required to embed ESG effectively, ensuring accountability and transparency.
Application & Integration	Perceived as external/compliance-driven.	Seen as integral to strategic planning, risk management, and reporting.	Transformative: Participants now view ESG as a fundamental component of core business operations, suggesting a readiness to actively champion and integrate these principles within their respective domains.

Media representatives reported increased understanding of ESG's role in financial inclusion and sustainability.
